

The kingdom of Champa located along the coast of Central Vietnam maintained close cultural relations with India and their South East Asian neighbours. With India, this kingdom shared Hindu-Buddhist religion, artistic expressions and philosophical discourse. Sanskrit language flourished in Champa for over thousand years from 4th to 15th century A.D. and enriched the Cham language which is of Polynesian origin.

The two-day Conference will explore various aspects of this cultural dialogue. The important contributions made by Vietnam to preserve and protect Cham heritage as an integral part of the nation state will also be highlighted. Mison as World Heritage site will be a prominent theme of this Conference. It is being attended by the renowned scholars from Malaysia, Singapore, Vietnam, Cambodia, France and Hungary. Besides, well known scholars from different parts of India will also participate and contribute their papers.
