

'Seventh International Alexander Csoma de Kőrös symposium on Buddhist Transcreations in Tibetan Literature and Art' seeks to unravel the spread of Buddhist culture across Asia. Since the original texts in Indian languages were lost in India after 13th century, the Tripiṭaka translation in the Mahāyāna Buddhist cultures transmit a much broader range of Indic Buddhist material than in the Theravāda-Buddhist cultures. As a true philosophical tradition, with its quest for pure knowledge, each regional network of Buddhist learning in Asia added its own texts and commentaries while integrating cultural practice into the complex Buddhist tradition as a whole. Erudite scholars will present works of such transcreation in the Buddhist literatures and arts produced in Tibet, Mongolia, China, Japan and Central Asia. New researches and recent developments in the field of Tibetan & Buddhist Studies will be discussed with special focus on the collection of Tibetan manuscripts and xylographs of Alexander Csoma de Kőrös.

Alexander Csoma de Kőrös (1784-1842) was a Hungarian philologist, Orientalist and the founder of a new branch of scholarship-Tibetan studies.

Besides eminent scholars from India, academicianas from Hungary, Poland, Australia, Vienna, Netherlands, U.K., Germany, Korea, U.S.A. and Romania will participate in the symposium and present research papers.
